ALL'S WELL THAT ENDS WELL

Mastering the End Game By WALTER KORN, Editor of MCO

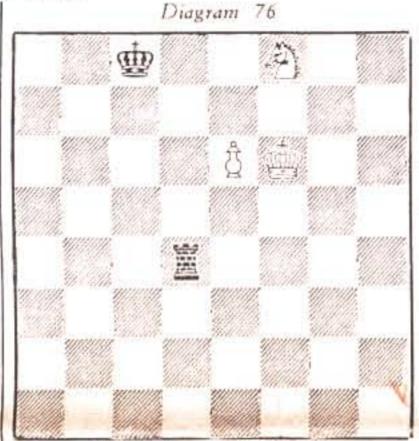

AMERICANA (II)-Marvin Palmer

Marvin lives in Detroit, and although his talents have been dormant lately, he has composed quite a lot of end-game studies. Quite a tale hangs around this miniature. (Diagram 76)

See solution on page 8.

Looking at this gem recently, I realized that I had seen the idea elsewhere. True, it was one of Reti's studies, published in 1928, the only difference being that Reti has the Black rook on Black's Q-3, and an additional White pawn on White's Q3. His solution ran: 1. P-Q4, RxQP; 2. P-K7, R-Q3ch; . K-N7, R-Q1; 4. K-B7, winning as above, but adding the minor variation 1. K-B2; 2. P-Q5, RxQP; 3. P-K7 etc.

Colorado Story-The Perfected Plan

From: Fred Cramer, General Membership Chairman To: Juan J. Reid, Colorado Membership Chairman

Colorado shows a sensational gain, from 15 members a year ago to 53! Drop me a line, telling me how it was done . . .

From: Juan J. Reid, Colorado Membership Chairman To: Fred Cramer, General Membership Chairman

The increase in USCF membership in Colorado is due mainly to a few ideas and the concentrated effort of a few key people. Organization of the Colorado State Chess Association last year united our chess leaders in a common effort to promote the game. The CSCA directors, Ben Kriegh of Boulder, Al Hulmes of Denver, and Warren Barter of Pueblo, were in agreement that the USCF was the best instrument to promote chess for the typical club in the outlying provinces as well as at the national level, and they became the Membership Committee for OPERATION M. As a result the USCF program was publicized at the club level, at CSCA meetings, and through the CSCA Newsletter.

The CSCA adopted the requirement of USCF membership for participation in the state tournament. The Denver YMCA CC inaugurated rating tournaments for USCF members. The promise of national ratings brought out the best players in the state for the 1959 tournament, and the number of entries was 43% greater than the previous year.

Special recognition must be given two men. Dr. George Pipiringos of the Denver YMCA CC and the 1958 state champion, was an indefatigable worker for OPERATION M. Hans Berliner, member of the Martin Co. CC of Littleton, USCF Master and 1959 Colorado champion, offered simultaneous exhibitions at $2.00 per board, or free to anyone joining (Continued on page 2)

Don't count Colorado's OPERATION M as concluded. We have just started!

From: Fred Cramer, General Membership Chairman

To: All State and Local Membership Chairmen

Formula for membership success—that's the Colorado story. It has everything! Notice the leadership, the working together of the leaders, the concentrated efforts of those named, the all-out propaganda campaign, followed by the action-producing activities (rated tournaments, Berliner simuls). And what a fine thing it has been for chess in Colorado, and for the Chess organization in Colorado. A sweet smooth operation, a model for any state! All hats off to Juan Reid and crew!

THE USCF RATING SYSTEM

A progress report by: Arpad E. Elo

(This partial progress report by the chairman of the committee appointed to study the study the

Introduction:

The USCF ratings and the rating system itself as devised by Mr. Kenneth Harkness have become the object of a great deal of controversy within the American chess fraternity. To resolve this controversy President Jerry Spann early this year appointed a committee consisting of Dr. Erich Marchand, Mr. Guthrie McClain and the writer to study the matter and to make such recommendations as would effect an improvement in the rating system. This report summarizes the findings and some of the recommendations that have developed out of the study thus far.

At the outset the committee accepted a definition of the objective of a rating system as stated by Mr. C. H. Bone of the Texas Chess Association, namely;

"THE RATING SYSTEM SHALL PROVIDE AS CLOSE AN ESTI-MATE AS POSSIBLE OF THE CURRENT PLAYING STRENGTH OF THE INDIVIDUAL AS COMPUTED FROM HIS PERFORM-ANCE IN COMPETITION WITH OTHER PLAYERS AND MEAS-URED ALONG AN ARBITRARY ARITHMETIC SCALE."

Some of the controversy in the past has resulted from an improper understanding of the objectives of a rating system; some has resulted from a lack of appreciation of the limitations of any rating systems. The Harkness system has been criticized for not showing past achievements (if these were good); for not agreeing with the subjective evaluation of playing strength and for not being accurate. Those individuals who in particular criticised the accuracy of the system claimed that other systems in use would provide more accurate or better results.

In addition to the Harkness System several other rating systems are currently in use in the United States, namely, the CCLA, the Chess Review, the West Coast System and numerous others of local importance. The principal systems listed here have different numerical scales but the ranges do not differ significantly so that, if desired, ratings could readily be translated from one system to another. A comparative study of these systems has been made by supplying them to the same tournament events. The mathematical and the logical bases of the systems were also examined critically. Out of these investigations the following basic facts of rating systems have emerged:

I. All the different rating systems if applied over a long enough period; if based upon a sufficient number of events and if adjusted for the numerical scales used will approach the same value for the rating of a player. The approach to this ideal value is, however, an oscillatory one. This is so not only because the performance of a player may vary from one event to the next but rather because of an inherent feature of the rating systems. All the systems considered are essentially self contained systems so that if one player gains rating points another player or players must lose the same number of points. Thus if a player gains and achieves a certain rating in a tournament, say a club tournament, he will depress the ratings of his competitors. Then in the next event even if the player concerned makes the same score as in the first event he is likely to lose rating points since in the second event his competition appears "weaker." A self contained system is thus going to be a "hunting" system in the sense that it tends to seek out the rating but seldom if ever indicates what would be the "true" rating of the individual player.

II. The concept of a TRUE rating is in itself an illusion. There exists an inherent uncertainty in the value of the rating of an individual as determined by any system. This fact is closely associated with the feature discussed in (I), however, it is even more basic. The uncertainty which exists in chess ratings is quite analogous to the uncertainty that exists in physical measurements on the atomic scale and much the same factors bring about this condition both in chess and in physics In chess when the status-quo of the ratings is to be determined it is done through such measuring devices as match or tournament events. Any event, however, is bound to disturb the status-quo so that it can never be determined within an uncertainty the order of magnitude of which is the value of a chess game expressed in the rating points of the particular system.

III. All the principal rating systems are basically identical even though the formulae used for the computation of the ratings may superficially look different. The fact is that when the formulae are generalized they are either of identical algebraic form or if of seemingly different form derivable from one another. This fact was quite unsuspected at the beginning of this study.

The oscillatory character and the uncertainty in the ratings may be demonstrated by the following oversimplified example. Suppose that two evenly rated players A & B play a match by correspondence one game at a time and that they are rerated after each game. Let it be further assumed that the players alternate winning games. (Each could, say, exploit the advantage of the first move and win with the white pieces.) This order is not important but simplifies the computations. For the computations the Chess Review system will be used as the 50 rating point value of a game and the 10% handicap term gives nice round figures to work with. This system will be described later. Lastly assume that the rating of each player is 1000 at the beginning of the match and let the ratings be computed after each game and tabulated thus:

| | | B's rating | Difference (A-B) |
|--------------|------|------------|------------------|
| At beginning | 1000 | 1000 | 0 |
| After A wins | 1050 | 950 | 100 |
| After B wins | 990 | 1010 | -20 |
| After A wins | 1042 | 959 | 84 |
| After B wins | 984 | 1016 | -32 |
| After A wins | 1037 | 963 | 74 |
| Etc. | | | |

Now if the calculations are continued with the same pattern of wins it will be evident that the differences in the two ratings, both the plus and minus, approach a value of 55 and the ratings approach the figures 972.5 and 1027.5 respectively. After these figures are reached the ratings of the two players will merely oscillate between the two extremes but will never again be equal to 1000 or to one another. Manifestly the example chosen is far fetched but it does illustrate the uncertainty principle. A similar situation would result in a match between two unusual players provided that the win-loss pattern bears some relation to the probability of either player winning. It should be apparent then that all that can be said of any rating is that it is somewhere within a range of values and not something which is absolutely definite. (To be continued)

BRASKET WINS NORTH CENTRAL OPEN

Milwaukee, Wis.—Curt Brasket, Minneapolis, triumphed over a field of 90 players to win the 6th Annual North Central Open here. A half point in arrears, splitting 2nd and 3rd prize and a share of the Merit fund were Hans Berliner, Littleton, Colorado, Charles Henin, Chicago, and Martin Harrow, Indianapolis. Each received nearly $100. Brasket, who also won the title in 1954, thus becoming the first player to win the tournament for the second time, received $250. Milwaukee's veteran and popular competitor, Nicolajs Kampars was sole possessor of 5th place with 5½ points.

Sharing in the balance of the merit prize fund at five points each were Robion Kirby, Chicago, Vasa Kostic, Gary, Indiana, Milton Otteson, Minneapolis, Arpad Elo, Milwaukee, Jack O'Keefe, Ann Arbor, Michigan, Charles Weldon, Milwaukee, Sam Cohen, Chicago, Dr. I. Schwartz, Rockford, Ill., and Kenneth Grant, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

A five minute "Blitz" tournament, in which 32 players competed was won by Angelo Sandrin, Chicago. Milton Otteson and Miro Radojcic tied for 2nd and 3rd place.

FRANK R. BRADY USCF Rating Statistician

This second supplement, which is still another attempt at reaching the "monthly" stage of publishing up-to-date ratings, is about three months late. Every attempt has been made to speed up the frequent publishing of ratings, and competent clerical assistance has been secured so that lists will be guaranteed to be published more frequently than in the past. The "monthly" rating supplement idea, which I am still convinced is a good one, may be too impractical to maintain consistently. The duration between lists, however, will never be longer than three months, and in fact, the lists will probably be appearing every two. At the end of the year, there will be one complete national list, containing the names of every player who took part in a USCF-rated tournament during that year.

The current supplement marks the end of the rating system as it was devised by Kenneth Harkness and maintained for over seven years. The USCF Rating Committee, headed by Prof. Arpad Elo, with Dr. Erich Marchand and Guthrie McClain as members, has, after laborious and painstaking research and discussion, originated an entirely new system of calculation which tends to great accuracy and less over-all fluctuation, with more emphasis on credit for past performance. As of this date, all tournaments submitted to the USCF Business Office will be calculated by the new system. (Further explanation of this system will be found elsewhere in this issue).

In order to make a March deadline it was necessary to break off sooner than we had expected. Thus, some of the Labor Day Week-end Tournaments will be tound in this list, while others have not yet been calculated. These tournaments were done chronologically, in the order in which the reports were received, and any Labor Day tournaments not on this list will be included in the next.

FACTS AND FIGURES

This list contains the names of 8 Senior Masters, 47 Masters, 166 Experts, and 776 Class A, B, and C Players. Quite a few new names appear for the first time among the Masters; special note should be made of Walter Harris of New York City who is a member of the ma. snail Chess Club. By his outstanding performance in the U. S. Open, marris achieved his Master rating, making him the first Negro to be so recognized in American chess.

A NEW NAME

Joseph F. Reinhardt of Staten Island is now an employee of the USCF, working exclusively on ratings. Joe is a former student of Wagner College, and has long been an organizer of Island chess activities. The USCF is very fortunate, indeed, in being able to secure and I hope that all USCF mmbers will join me in welcoming him into the "fold."

The game Keres-Mikenas, (22nd U.S. S.R. Champ.) continued 8., O-O; 9. B-K3, B-Q2; 10. P-B4, NxN; 11. BxN, B-B3; 12. Q-Q3, P-QN4. Mikenas eventually won. An alternative is 8., N-QR4 followed by 9., NxB which is supposedly best.

9. B-K3 B-Q2 10. P-B4 R-QR1 11. P-B5!

Formerly the idea was that the bishop was wasted on the QR2-KN8 diagonal since Black invariably would play P-K3 and the bishop would bite on granite. Now the idea is to utilize the bishop anyway and to eliminate the granite.

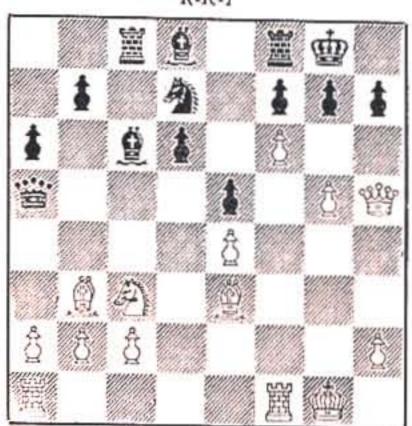

11. NXN 12. BxN 13. B-K3 B-B3

White's primary purpose is achieved as his bishop now has clear access. The piece . . . a backward KP . . . a liability for the endgame. But an attacking player gambles that there will be no endgame.

14. Q-B3 Some players prefer leaving the king in the center in obvious attacking situations. 14., P-KR4 seems an alternative.

Very fine aggressive play by White.

Another Crucial U. S. Junior Championship Game

Tension was high as the winner of this game would be crowned U.S. Junior Champion, Both players are among the newest Masters fo the USCF. A sideline of the Kings Indian is played with ensuing complexities that are not always correctly solved. But the very flaws make this struggle interesting. Incidentally, if this game had resulted in a draw, a third player, Ramirez, would have won the title.

| 2. | N-KB3 | | P-KN3 | |
| 3. | P-84 | | B-N2 | |
| 4. | N-B3 | | 0.0 | |

By delaying the advance of his center pawns, Ault reserves the option of his defence. The method is not without danger.

P-K4

B-B4 seems to have more possibilities for white. Other sound variants are P-KN3 and B-N5.

5. P-Q3 B-N5

Now this move has weaknesses. The classical B-K2 or P-KR3 are better.

6. 7. B-R4 QN-Q2 With this move, Black could have landed in lasting difficulties. Best is 7., P-KN4; 8. B-N3, N-R4 at least according to the books. Personally I like P-B4 as an alternative. 8. B-K2

White misses a good chance, 8. P-K5, PxP: 9. PxP and after any Kt move, P-K6 creates a fertile field for White. The same is true if Black does not exchange the pawns. P-B3

8, Perhaps Ault is convinced that he has Larry hypnotized. Maybe he has. In any event 8,, P-K4 is necessary and good. And 8., P-KN4 as above is also excellent. 9.

I can well remember the young Washington, D. C. Master at a recent Carolina tournament. During his games, his time was equally divided between thought and munching shrimpburgers. Is this the secret of this lapse? Was he lulled by a shrimpburger? And Omaha shrimpburgers at that-not the fresh, wholesome variety served at Carolina events, 9, P-K5 is even stronger now,

Q-B2 P-KN4 was still fairly good to prevent the QB from escaping.

10. N-K1

Excellent. He preserves the QB. Moreover, as will be seen, this Knight plays several important roles, Another plan was the Queenside push, P-QR3, R-N1, and P-QN4. 10. P-K4

With this delayed push, the game begins to look prosaic even for teenagers. The text also prevents White from playing the devastating P-B4.

11. P-Q5

11. PxP would lead to a rather drawish position.

11. P-KN4 12. B-N3 PxP

This move creates a fundamental weakness in Black's pawn structure leaving the P at Q3 backward. However, the text gives Ault a powerful attack. 13. BPXP

N-B4 14. Q-B2 Q-N3!

He must prevent P-N4. If 15., P-QR4; 16. P-QR4 and Black has permanent queenside weaknesses. 15. K-R1

The combination 15,, QNxP; 16. NxN, NxN; 17. QxN, P-B4; 18. Q-B2, P-B5 leaves Black too exposed to attack.

16, P-B3 KR-B1 17. B-B2

White is faced with a powerful but not irresistible attack. As the bishop drives the queen to a better square (attacking the pinned) 17. N-Q3 should have been played. Then 17., N-R5; 18. B-K1 and Gilden can consolidate his position.

17. Q-R4 18. Q-N1 Fatal, N-Q3 would still hold. 18. N-R5! 19. NXN QXN 20. P-QN3 Q-R4 21. B-K3 N-R4 22. P-N3

Ault's threat to the second rank is only one key to the situation, If 22. N-Q3, N-B5; 24. NxN, KPxN! Hence the text is forced. 22. P-B4 23. Q-N2 B-N4! 24. BxB QxB 25. Q-N2 N-B3

He now proceeds to demolish the white center. 26 R-B2

College Chess Life

GEORGE BAYLOR

Forty-four collegians participated in a nine round Swiss tournament for the championship of The City College of New York this fall. Triumphant in this tournament with a 71/2-11/2 score was Sanford Greene, new vice-president of the ICLA, who lost only to Lanton and drew with Levine. With 7-2 scores were Levine and Cohen, followed in fourth place by Berkowitz with a 612-21/2 score. Fifth and sixth places went to Lanton and Schachter, respectively, each finishing with a 6-3 score. The size of this tournament was surprisingly large (even for New York!) and serves to illustrate the huge amount of chess interest prevalent in our colleges and universities-it only has to be cultivated!

At Columbia University also an interclub tournament was held from October to December, 1959. In this twenty player Swiss, Leslie Ault, new intercollegiate champion, with a loss to Alan Abramson and a draw with Mark Chodrow, tied for first and second with Joseph Rosenstein, who lost to Leslie Ault and also drew with Chodrow. Third and fourth places were annexed by Robin Ault, U. S. Junior champ, and Alan Abramson, both with 5-2 scores. Pete Sager took fifth with 41/2-21/2 and Jerry Finkelstein rounded out the plus scorers with a sixth place 4-3 score.

The teams of the Western Division of the 1959-60 Ivy League Team Championship met at Princeton on December 12-13, 1959, for a triangular match. Columbia won all three of its matches; the University of Pennsylvania scored one and a half; Cornell one; and Princeton one-half. The results of the individual matches were as follows:

Mate The Subtle Way!

by Nicholas Gabor

All communications concerning this problem-column, including solutions as well as original compositions for publication (two- and three-mover direct mates), from composers anywhere should be sent to Nicholas Gabor, Hotel Kemper Lane, Cincinnati 6, Ohio.

As promised, herewith we attempt to give a little advice to our inexperienced solvers about how to look at a chessproblem, in trying to find the solution. The subject is too rich and would require many pages of analysis, but we hope that a few casual points will help them. Practice will increase their technique, useful even in playing regular games!

The first thing is to look at the position of the B1 K. In No. 1061 the K is fully blocked! It cannot move. But since one of the most important requirements of a problem is that every single piece on the board MUST HAVE a purpose, you soon notice the 2. Wh P-s on KR2 and KR3. If the K cannot move, why are these P-s there? The only purpose of their being on the board must be that during the solution, the K will be able to move closer to them. This obvious fact may indicate the keymove. In No. 1062 the B1 K is also blocked. The B1 Q and B are in "half-pin" which means that moves of one of them away from the diagonal "pins" the other! And this pinning of the B or Q will be exploited in Wh-s second move, the mate.

Never look for checking keymoves! Aside from a very few existing samples, (we have published some, in the past) such "keymoves," if they mate in 2 moves, must be "cooks." (Unintended solutions which ruin the problem!) Never look for piece-capturing keymoves! Pawn-capturing keymoves are frequent. Never look for "keymoves" which decrease the freedom of the B1 K without any recompensation. Good keymoves often increase the B1 K's (or other B1 pieces') freedom and seemingly give Wh some disadvantages! . . .

The intriguing question arose who copied whom, and readers will be pleased to know that Palmer's study appeared first, in 1917, in the "Iowa News" of Iowa. We will never know if Reti thought out the same theme years later, or if he had seen it during his earlier migrations through chess literature, "forgotten it," and revived it later with a minor plus-these subconscious processes do happen.

Lommer's "1934 Modern Chess Endings" give the Reti study under No. 539, with the added subvariatien: "If 1. P-Q4, K-Q1; 2. K-B7, K-B1; 3. P-K7, R-Q1; 4. P-Q5! winning-" which to us is mysterious. Plainly 4. PxR ch would win, as White has retained his other Pawn cn Q4.

SOLUTION-Diagram 76

1. P-K7, R-Q3ch; 2. K-N7!! R-Q1; 3. K-B7! wins.

If White had played 2. K-B7, he would have been in zugzwang after 2., R.Q1, and Black would have drawn. After 2. K-N7 and 3. K-B7, it is Black who has to lift the blockade of his first rank, and White wins. If 1,, R-K5; 2. N-K6, K-Q2; 3. N-B5ch and wins rook and ending.

BALTIMORE-WASHINGTON INTERCITY MATCH

It was Washington over Baltimore 18-11 in a giant 29 board match Dec. 13 at the Dundalk YMCA. Washington thus retained the I. S. Turover trophy and went ahead in this annual event 3 to 2. Besides setting a record for size, this was the first time that the home team has been upset. Featuring four masters, the Washingtonians couldn't be headed although the first five boards were split. From there on down, it was just about all Washington. Kudos are due Bill Koenig (B), George Thomas (W), and the Bay Region C.C. for the great job they did in bringing off this huge match. The line-ups and results are given below.

FLORIDA TEAMS EXPAND AGAIN

The annual team league program during the winter months in South Florida continues to expand. Four leagues with 17 teams are active now in the various rating categories.

The Open division includes entries from the defending champions, the Miami Club, plus Miami Beach, the University of Miami, Broward County and Dade County.

Co-titleholders North Dade and Miami Beach are being challenged in Class A by Homestead, Miami Club, and the Miami Herald. At the halfway mark the first four teams were tied for the lead in this extremely well balanced competition.

A new Class B loop includes groups from Miami, North Dade, and three from tiny Homestead.

Homestead dominates entries in the new Class C League as well.
